B. READING

Read the passage about Air pollution and find the answers to given questions that follow

AIR POLLUTION

We are nowadays becoming more aware of pollution matters that affect dramatically our lives, especially there is growing concern about air pollution. There are some reasons that lead to this kind of pollution. Firstly, the development of industrial zones, factories and building construction areas is producing a large amount of dust and poisonous air. Especially in the developing countries, people nearly pay their attention to the air treatment process that makes the air pollution even worse. Secondly, because of the increasing urbanization, it can be easily seen that there is always a lot of traffic in rush hour and dust on the road these days. The smoke from vehicles and manufacturing exhaust increases the amount of carbon dioxide in the air which makes us feel really hard to breathe. The consequences are very bad. Smog and dust can do serious harm to our health and especially our lungs. We have thousands of asthma and adult respiratory distress cases each year which raise concern about the air quality. Moreover, acid rains are becoming more and more popular which damage crops and fields. Many people believe that air pollution is also causing global warming and it is difficult to improve the air without the efforts of all countries around the world.

I often hear or read about “natural disasters” - the eruption of Mount St. Helen, a volcano in the state of Washington; Hurricane Andrew in Florida; the floods in the American Midwest; terrible all over the world; huge fires; and so on and so on. But I’ll never forget my first personal experience with the strangeness of nature - “the London Killer Fog” of 1952. it began on Thursday, December 4, when a high-pressure system (warm air) covered southern England. With the freezing-cold air below, heavy fog formed. Pollution from factories, cars, and coal stoves mixed with the fog. The humidity was terrible high, there was no breeze at all. Traffic (cars, trains, and boats) stopped. People couldn’t see, and some walked onto the railroad tracks or into the river. It was hard to breath, and many people got sick. Finally, on Tuesday, December 9, the wind came and the fog went away. But after that, even more people got sick. Many of them died.

1. Which “natural disaster” isn’t mentioned in the text?

- A. a volcano B. a flood C. a tornado

2. What is his unforgettable personal experience?

- A. the heavy fog in London in 1952 B. the strangeness of nature
C. a high-pressure system

3. How long did the “London Killer Fog” last?

- A. for four days B. for six days C. for a week

4. What didn’t happen during the time of “London Killer Fog”?

- A. heavy rain B. pollution C. heavy fog

How can scientist predict earthquakes? Earthquakes are not scattered anywhere but happen in certain areas. They happen in places of the earth's surface meet. This pattern causes them to shake the same places many times.

Another way to predict earthquakes is to look for changes in the earth's surface like a sudden drop of water level in the ground. Some people say animals can predict earthquakes. Before earthquakes people have seen chickens sitting in trees, fish jumping out of water, and other animals acting strangely.

After an earthquake happens, people can die from lack of food, water and medical supplies. The amount of destruction caused by an earthquake depends on where it happens, and how strong it is. It also depends on types of buildings, soil conditions and population.

1. Earthquakes happen in certain areas where _____.
A. the population is large
B. pieces of the earth's surface meet
C. many buildings are built
2. Looking for _____ can help predict earthquakes.
